Kathy-

On this thanksgiving season I just wanted to take time to let you know how much I appreciate you. I never really told you how you were able to help me through the whole Haiti earthquake and even since then. A couple things that is very hard for me is asking someone else for help and not having total control of a situation. You probably unknowingly helped me learn to deal with those two things I needed to work on. I knew that I was unable to do this on my own and that is where I think God brought you to me. He taught me through you that I can't do everything myself and that I don't need to do everything myself, that there are plenty of people that are willing and able to help anytime. Obviously I had blind faith that God brought you to me so that we could get the supplies to Haiti and that I had to rely totally on Him that he brought you to me. Besides those two things you also helped me realize that sometimes when I may not want to send certain items/things to be sent to Haiti that people just want to help and that we need to let them. Well, anyways I just wanted to let you know how thankful I am for you. Also, I would like to help out when/if you need help this winter. It has been crazy at work but starting after thanksgiving I would have some time to help out if you need me. Have a happy thanksgiving.

Thanks again,
Zach
